Today Roger Waters guitarist Dave Kilminster tells us about the song "Stardust" from his brand new solo album "...and THE TRUTH will set you free..." Here is the story:

I've been asked several times whether playing Pink Floyd music with Roger Waters for the last eight years has affected my song writing... to which my reply has always been 'no'... But it would be difficult to deny a certain Floydian influence on this final track of my new CD "...and THE TRUTH will set you free..."

My Mother passed away last year, and so I wanted to write a very special piece of music for her... a kind of modern day Requiem... and a slow, atmospheric Floydian vibe seemed perfect to convey those sorts of feelings and emotions... Hopefully she would have liked it...

Hearing is believing. Now that you know the story behind the song, listen for yourself and learn more about the album right here!
